Working in partnership with scientific organisations

CAP Partner offers project management and consultancy to scientific associations in Europe. Our services are focused on three areas: Conference Organisation, Association Development, and Project Management. In support of all of these activities, we offer fundraising.

Our mission is to provide association members more time to invest in their areas of expertise.

We help associations finance their activities and secure professional administration for these pursuits. In so doing, we support the association's goals and objectives and strengthen the political impact.

OUR CUSTOMERS SAY...

■ CAP Partner is a very professional partner who also managed to make the collaboration enjoyable. More than once I experienced considering something we should do, only to find that CAP Partner had already taken care of it. This gives you peace of mind both during the planning phase as well as during the event.

Anders Miki Bojesen, Professor, Department of Veterinary Disease Biology, Microbiology, University of Copenhagen, Denmark

■ I would like to thank you so much. I do not know how to express my thanks enough to you, because it is your credit that EBJIS 2013 finished well. It was a real luck for me to work with you and I will miss the congress.

David Jahoda, MD, Professor, Department of Orthopaedics, Charles University, Teaching Hospital Motol, Czech Republic, Chairman of the European Bone & Joint Infection Society Conference 2013

■ I have always experienced CAP Partner as a very professional, dedicated and skilled collaboration partner with a great knowledge about organisational development as well as the health care system and different health professional areas. [Danish Lymphedema Network]

Tonny Karlsmark, MD, DMSc, Chairman of the Dermato-venerologic Department and Wound Healing Center at Bispebjerg Hospital, Denmark

■ CAP partner has formed the secretariat of the European Wound Management Association for more than 10 years. In this period the annual conference has grown to become one of the biggest international events within wound management and the number of participants, abstracts and industry sponsors has grown significantly. CAP Partner has also played a crucial role in the continuous development of the association, for example by expanding the international network of the association and managing projects aiming for improved education and organisation of health care staff in Europe.

Jan Apelqvist, MD, PhD, Senior Consultant, Malmö University Hospital & University of Lund, Sweden, Previous president of the European Wound Management Association

■ I have worked with CAP Partner on the production and publication of several documents. During the entire process, I have always received very qualified support. They coordinated the work of the author group, supported the editorial process and kept the process going. If needed, they even ensured funding.

Finn Gottrup, MD, DMSci, Professor of Surgery, Bispebjerg University Hospital, Denmark, Previous President of the European Tissue Viability Society and the European Wound Management Association

■ During my involvement in the European Wound Management Association, CAP Partner ensured our contribution to the EU agenda on wound care. CAP Partner understood the game and the context, and thus established a good basis for bringing my professional skills into play in several EU supported activities on patient safety issues.

Zena Moore, Professor, PhD, MSc, FFNMRCISI, PG Dip, RGN, Professor and Head of School of Nursing & Midwifery, Royal College of Surgeons, Ireland, Previous president of the European Wound Management Association
